FAQs & Definitions

We understand the electronic voting process can be complex. You may have a lot of questions about procedures and different projects than what you are used to. We have compiled a list of answers to common questions and definitions of projects below.

What does it mean by “type of” election day ballot?

Choosing a stubbed ballot allows your ballots to be bound in booklets, with sequential numbering for easy accounting and tracking. While we recommend using a stub for your scannable ballots like we use for New York State Elections, if you choose we can print them unbound without a stub.

If you have an electronic voting system with scanner, your ballot(s) will be created electronically by your County’s Board of Elections. Your County Board will supply Phoenix Graphics with ballot file(s) that we can print for you. Your County Board can answer any questions about the electronic ballot process for you.

What are Sample Ballots and Test Ballots? What is the difference?

Sample Ballots are simply 11 x 17-inch “posters” of your ballot(s). They are displayed at poll sites for voters to reference before they cast their votes. They are not required, but do supply your voters and poll site workers with a helpful visual reference.

Test Ballots are used by your County Board of Elections to check the logic and accuracy of the programming prior to the Election. The cost for Sample and Test Ballots is the same per piece as the Live Ballots.
